

HEAVIEST BOMBER RAID HITS INVASION COAST

The War Today...

By DeWitt MacKenzie
AP War Analyst

ALLIED BOMBING and other preparations for D-day are happening rapidly towards their peak. That's not in any way intended as a forecast, to compete with the Hitlerian astrologer who went on the air in Berlin last night and in gloomy gutters announced that "the seventh day after the full moon often sees casualties and death." Next Monday is the seventh day.

However, it's evident that we are approaching the peak of preparedness. That's true not only in the invasion zone but in all other European theaters. For this greatest land-water-air operation of history ("triphilian," the phrase-coining Winston Churchill calls it) is to be supported by the coordinated, all-out efforts of every fighting unit that can lend a useful hand, wherever it may be.

Everything seems to be gauged by its relation to D-day. The recapture of Sevastopol, illustrates that point. There's a victory which normally would have the world on tiptoe of excitement, since it has everything that makes for drama—a background of glorious military deeds, into which fit the "charge of the Light Brigade" and the immortal Florence Nightingale, and now the Red army's brilliant siege and capture by storm.

Yet we measure the fall of Sevastopol by its relation to the invasion of western Europe. Actually the two events are related in a big way, for the recapture of this strategic Black sea naval base was essential to the perfect functioning of the great Russian war machine which will come into full action again as the Allies strike in the west. The Russian fleet now will be able to give full cooperation to the projected Red offensive through Rumanian coast if necessary.

Meanwhile the Red armies are getting set on other fronts for the concerted onslaught against Hitler's fortress, and the fall of Sevastopol will expedite this. In addition to the Balkan drive through Rumania, the Moscovites are expected to strike heavily at the heart of Poland from their line between the Carpathians and the Pripiet marshes. They also may attack in the north.

On the Italian front, too, there are signs of allied operations to support D-day. The Hitlerites are looking for offensives both on the Cassino front and from the Anzio beach-

OHIO PRIMARY BRINGS RISE IN G.O.P. VOTE

Democratic Falls; Stewart Winner Over Tom Herbert by 2,262 Votes

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, May 11—A rise in the Republican vote and a decline in the Democratic vote indicated today as political observers scanned Tuesday's Ohio primary figures for governor with the electors who participated in the 1942 primary showed the Republicans improved their position over the Democrats by approximately 100,000 votes—the Republican vote increased 83,000, while the Democratic decreased 26,000.

As the politicians digested the Tuesday results, the mayors of the state's two largest cities—Republican James G. Stewart of Cincinnati and Democrat Frank J. Lausche of Cleveland—squared off for a battle for the governorship.

Stewart, a robust, jovial lawyer of 62, won his party's nomination for governor by a margin of only 2,262 votes over Atty. Gen. Thomas J. Herbert, his nearest rival in the four-man race.

Tabulation of unofficial returns from the state's 9,180 polling places gave Stewart 162,010 votes, Tom Herbert 159,748.

Will Seek Recounts
Rees H. Davis of Cleveland, a Herbert supporter, said he would ask a recount in five Cleveland wards. In Columbus a spokesman for Herbert said "It's safe to say we might ask a recount of Hamilton and Scioto counties."

Stewart commented "I certainly have no objection. All I am interested in is a thoroughly honest count."

Candidate Lausche, on the other hand, won the Democratic nomination for governor by a margin of 115,000 votes over Former Congressman Martin L. Sweeney of Cleveland, No. 2 runner-up in a six-man contest. Virtual complete returns gave him 179,903, Sweeney 14,209.

Lausche carried 50 of the 88 counties, including Franklin, the home of Rival James W. Huffman, son-in-law of former Gov. Vic Donahey. Sweeney carried 21, Frazer Reams of Toledo 11, and Huffman 10.

In the Republican race, Stewart carried 25 counties, Tom Herbert 12.

Allies, Germans Plan Use of French Roads

LONDON, May 11—The importance of France's transport system in the impending invasion of western Europe was emphasized by both the Allies and Germans today as the London radio urged the French to keep off the highways after the attack starts and Vichy repeated that passenger train service would be out Monday to facilitate troop movements.

The Allied request to French civilians was made in a BBC broadcast of invasion instructions. It stressed that troop movements must have right-of-way.

The announcement by the German-controlled Vichy radio of the forthcoming passenger train reduction caused many in London to wonder whether the Nazis were seizing the remnants of the bombarded railway system for what it was worth in helping to maintain the Atlantic wall.

Need Women To Work On Navy Orders

Mullins, Other War Industries Rush Production Of Vital Articles

Need for hundreds of women war workers in this area and the full employment of male manpower has been brought about by new Navy contracts of undisclosed nature, recently assigned to Mullins Manufacturing Corp. and other war industries here, according to local U. S. Employment service estimates.

Arthur S. Johnston, manager of the U. S. E. S. Salem office, points out that the need has been made critical by increased numbers of experienced men called to meet draft quotas while a growing volume of war goods made in Salem requires additional labor and workers to fit semi-skilled positions.

He said there is little hope of meeting the manpower needs of the area with male workers, the solution rests with the willingness of women, many of whom never worked in industrial jobs or cared to seek factory employment, to take a variety of war jobs available.

Training Program
Johnston indicated that important jobs must be filled at the Mullins plant soon to meet quotas on a special Navy item which is listed as "Plant official" at Mullins hesitated to release the specific number of women workers required or the nature and quantity of the critically listed Navy item for reasons of military secrecy and security regulations. Factory Manager, H. O. Smith, said however, that dozens of jobs will be open to women who feel the responsibility of producing directly

Ship Sunk, Morgenthau's Son Saved

U. S. Destroyer Lansdale, pictured below, was sunk in the Mediterranean April 20 by German torpedo planes but the loss of life among her 200 officers and men was "moderate." Among those rescued was Lieut. Robert M. Morgenthau, son of the secretary of the U. S. Treasury. Photo above shows seamen saved descending from a Coast Guard rescue vessel somewhere off North Africa. Morgenthau is shown at extreme lower left, watching his buddies come ashore after being rescued from the ill-fated Lansdale. (International)

Tito's Forces Break Nazi Yugoslav Drive

LONDON, May 11—Marshall Josip Broz (Tito) triumphantly proclaimed today that his Yugoslav partisans had smashed a German general offensive in Yugoslavia, but declared that fierce fighting was continuing in Macedonia as Axis forces tried desperately to drive a wedge between his troops and Bulgarian partisans operating along the Yugoslav border.

As a result of the failure of their general offensive, the Nazis now "are applying to all sectors a strategy of surprise attacks with the intention of plundering and wiping out the population," said a communique broadcast from Tito's headquarters.

The bulletin said large areas of Serbia have been restored to control of the partisans with the result that men who fled the German invaders to form the guerrilla bands which grew into the Tito army now are returning to the home villages they have not seen for months.

3,000 Allied Planes Carry Out Assault

BULLETIN
LONDON, May 11—Three thousand Allied planes dumped an estimated 5,400 tons of explosives on German airports and rail centers in western Europe today in the 27th day of the great, pre-invasion assault.

(By Associated Press)

LONDON, May 11—American bomber formations whose ground-shaking roar was the loudest Londoners ever heard struck out toward Europe today in the 27th day of the round-the-clock pre-invasion offensive against Hitler's fortress.

Quickly following up last night's fourth assault on Budapest by bombers striking from Italy bases, Marauder and Havoc bombers of the American Ninth airforce got in the first flicks of what appeared to be another day-long assault from British bases in morning attacks on airfields at Beaumont-le-Roger and Cormelles-en-Verzin in France.

London observers said the thunderous vibrations of the follow-up daylight fleets were the loudest heard since the war began. The Paris radio network left the air immediately.

Last night's heavy and medium bomber attack on the Hungarian capital came close on the heels of daylight blows yesterday in which more than 3,000 Allied aircraft winging in from both Italy and Britain poured some 4,500 tons of bombs into Europe.

FORRESTAL IS NAVAL CHOICE

President's Appointment Of Knox Successor To Be Confirmed

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, May 11—Speedy approval was predicted today for President Roosevelt's promotion of Undersecretary James V. Forrestal to be secretary of the Navy.

At the Navy department where Forrestal had served with the late Secretary Frank Knox for four years it was generally expected that the main line of administrative policies would continue unchanged.

Forrestal's chief task still will be that of getting production and delivery of ships, guns and supplies on time, but to this he will have to add the responsibility of being the Navy's principal spokesman to the public, especially in advocacy of such causes as that the fleet should not be scrapped at the war's end.

The production task was his whole assignment as undersecretary. He began work on it in August, 1940, in a little back room of the secretary's suite at the time he was made undersecretary and had neither office nor personnel to work with.

A full burst of publicity brought on by his nomination yesterday apparently has put him in this predicament.

Will his self-professed desire for obscurity bear up under the weight of so public an office?

Forrestal's passion for anonymity undoubtedly will have to be forsaken now as he takes his place as a top-flight public official and cabinet member.

In his response to public promotion.

Turn to FORRESTAL, Page 6

Both heavy and medium bombers of the Mediterranean Allied air force attacked the Hungarian capital—last hit May 4—in a nocturnal follow-up to daylight blows against an aircraft factory and an airfield at Wiener Neustadt, Austria, and the Yugoslav rail center of Kmnin.

The Air ministry announced Britain-based RAF heavy bombers in strength last night attacked railway yards at Lens and Lille, France, and at Ghent and Courtrai, Belgium, while other bomber formations struck at military objectives on the French invasion coast.

Speedy Mosquitos carrying 4,000-pound bombs also raided Ludwigshafen, Germany. In other aerial operations, the communiqué said, British planes laid mines in enemy waters.

Secret Emplacements Hit
From all of the overnight operations, the ministry announced, 15 planes were reported missing.

It was the second straight night that the RAF sent heavy bombers against mysterious emplacements the Germans have thrown up to attempt to block Allied invasion land forces.

More than 3,500 Allied warplanes from both British and Italian bases poured approximately 4,500 tons of bombs yesterday on targets in Hitler's Europe. The daylight assaults on Wiener Neustadt and Kmnin by American bombers were the heaviest battering of the day as Liberators and Fortresses in Britain stayed at home. It was the first time in 17 days that a full day has passed without Britain-based heavy bombers.

Prisoners' Liberation Brings New Tales Of Jap Atrocities

ADVANCED ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, New Guinea, May 11—Liberation of 707 Japanese-held prisoners of war by the American conquest of North-Central New Guinea was announced today as fresh accounts of the enemy's cruelty toward captives came to light.

Gen Douglas MacArthur announced that 462 of the liberated Allies were Sikhs, Indian soldiers captured in Malaya by the Japanese early in the war. Javanese numbered 86, and the rest were Americans, Australians, Chinese, Dutch, Filipinos, Poles and Czechs. Many were missionaries and other civilians.

The Sikhs were quoted by the Australian department of information as saying they were herded like cattle on an 18-day march from Singapore, and at one place "we saw a number of Chinese who had been nailed to palm trees with iron spikes driven through their foreheads."

Other Sikhs told of being beaten frequently with sticks and rifle butts and of seeing their comrades put to death because they were ill.

Lance Naik Gurman Singh related in this respect:

"A close friend of mine reported to me the death of Navidur Bahadur Khan. He had become ill and apparently the Japanese decided against wasting time and medical supplies on him.

"Bahadur Khan was given an injection and he died almost immediately. The same thing was done to at least 14 others that I know of in the same camp."

The prisoners were forced to build roads, repair airfields and dig slit trenches for the Japanese.

"Of the original 9,500 prisoners of the camp, 1,200 died from lack of medical attention and malnutrition, he said, and 300 others were given malaria. For almost three years, they lived on nothing but two spoonfuls of rice and salt a day."

THE REUNION IS OFF

The three-way split in organized labor became more definite when John L. Lewis, acting with characteristic turbulence, withdrew the application for admission of his United Mine Workers into the American Federation of Labor and asked for return of his $60,000 check, deposited to cover the first year's per capita tax. With it he sent a letter so forceful that it seems to slam the door against any immediate renewal of negotiations seeking a merger.

This leaves American labor divided into three strong camps, the AFL, the CIO and Mr. Lewis' UMW. On many issues they have worked with a considerable degree of harmony. In some places the CIO and the AFL cooperate very smoothly. The UMW, for the most part, pursues its own way, wholly ignoring the others since Mr. Lewis split from each under circumstances marked with hot display of temper.

Labor's record on behalf of the nation and its influence in its own behalf would be better if this triple schism were not present to hamper its activities. Its balance sheet in the war is good on the whole as evidenced by America's unbelievable production achievements but many of the pages are marred by the blot of jurisdictional squabbles.

Since complete unity within the labor family now seems impossible at this time, the next best thing is peace within the three branches which have chosen to live apart and amity one toward another. Bickering between their several houses will hurt not only the cause of labor but of the nation. Since the divorce of the UMW from its former mates now seems complete Mr. Lewis can do his country a service by staying in his own backyard.

There is an old saying that "Strong fences make good neighbors."

MORE WINGS OF PEACE

There is a ray of hope for more civilian air transport service in the announcement that some of the big planes formerly used by the military are now being turned back to the passenger air lines. One of the major services has announced additions to its schedule and more seats available for civilian travelers.

At the outbreak of the war the government took over many of the air liners and at the same time necessary travel increased until it became almost impossible for the civilian, no difference how urgent his trip, to get a seat on the plane. Production suffered because men with important war jobs to do in a hurry were left on the ground while some other traveler with a priority took his seat on the plane.

The life of a giant plane in military service is relatively short and many are grounded while they still contain many thousands of miles of safe civilian travel. In other cases great ships of the air are outmoded but they can do good service back home until something better can be provided.

At the same time the nation had many fliers who because of age, war weariness or other reason cannot fly in combat but who are perfectly qualified for civilian flying.

Put all of these factors together and you have the opportunity to restore and increase the usefulness of the civilian passenger air lines to get busy war production executives to their destination in a hurry and to enable more service men to get home on that inestimably important furlough which may be too short to allow a visit with the home folks if the soldier must rely on the unpredictable wartime ground transportation or on the helpfulness of motorists who happen to be going his way.

SERVICE IN LITTLE THINGS

One of the major problems in running a war is the fact that everybody wants to do the big things. It wouldn't be hard to get plenty of people to carry the flag but few flagbearers are needed. What the war machine needs is the spirit which will make everybody willing to do the obscure jobs.

Waste paper salvage is a vital war assignment but tons of paper are burned when it should be reaching the salvage stations. Blood plasma is a must in saving the lives of wounded men but thousands of able-bodied men and women have never given a pint. Gardens are essential to feeding the wartime nation but everywhere are fertile lots which grow only weeds while nearby are many persons who get their vegetables from the grocers. Pounds of kitchen fat go into the drains when they should be making explosives to pour on Germany.

We know from unquestionable sources that our enemies are not wasting an ounce of material or manpower. They have been trained to a life of economy. This country, with a normal abundance of everything, has grown up with the habit of waste.

Every American of every age can help to make Victory more sure and to bring it sooner. Service in little things will help to shorten the war and therefore to save lives. It is a tragic thing to waste anything that our service men need and time is one of the most essential ingredients of Victory, whether employed in a great factory producing the tools of war or at home where the little things which mean much in the general plan of campaign have their beginning.

THE STARS SAY:

For Friday, May 12

A day for quick, decisive and clever action is indicated by the prevailing lunar transits. It is propitious for grasping new contacts, legal agreements and fresh ventures, with avidity and intelligence, although it may involve some sudden changes, revamping of plans, even new surroundings. But very practical and constructive work must be done in inaugurating these projects or programs of scope and promise. While haste is important it is well to refrain from over strenuous or enthusiastic action. In private contacts avoid turbulence or impetuous moves and all should be gratifying.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a very active and lively year, with change, travel, new ventures, or fresh plans. It may take swift grasp of possibilities when appealing factors for progress and advancement are at hand, but these should be pursued with constructive skill or well-executed plans and programs, and not under forced issues or over excitement or optimism. The same measure of restraint and good judgment should be applied to social, domestic or emotional openings for happiness if ultimate satisfaction is expected.

A child born on this day may be exceptionally talented and versatile, backed up by practical creative ability, energy and ingenuity. It may have a progressive and exciting career, with travel and change.

WATERLOO AT CHICAGO

Mr. Roosevelt and his man Friday, Attorney General Biddle, have turned Montgomery Ward & Co. back to private ownership.

They have learned that high-handed and unconstitutional seizure of the big mail order company was a dose too bitter for the American people to swallow. Their position was wrong and they must have learned this quickly; otherwise, there is no way to explain their hasty retreat.

Mr. Roosevelt may blandly attempt to pass the incident on as of no consequence, saving the New Deal conscience by claiming the seizure was justified as a cog in the wheels of collective bargaining, sneering that "a lot of people are seeing things under the bed" but he has not yet heard the last of this celebrated case.

Sewell Avery may be the nasty ba-a-a old man Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Biddle have pictured him. The American people are not much concerned about that. They are concerned about and fully aware of the dangers of government by intimidation now as never before.

It is true, indeed, that business and the people at large are seeing things under the bed. They are seeing things also on their desks, in their private business files and in their hair. What they see are not just hobgoblins but an army of New Deal administrators, regulators, operators, coordinators and expeditors—all of them trying to tell us we cannot follow our traditional way of life without their express permission and regimentation.

The CIO won the right to represent Montgomery Ward employees in collective bargaining. It is to the government's shame that an orderly election was not held at an earlier date by lawful direction. Fortunately for American liberty, oppressive bureaucracy must ring its own alarm and, in doing so in this case, it has heaped the mounting resentment of the people upon its own head.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

Physical Therapy Aid In Arthralgia

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

IN THE SPRING the joints and muscles are notably likely to get stiff and sore. This used to be called by the old word rheumatic. Nowadays the sufferer is more likely to be frightened by the more dread word arthritis. Perhaps we had better switch to the even more modern word arthralgia which simply means pain in the organs of locomotion.

Dr. Clendenning will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

The causes of these conditions and the reasons for their occurrence in the spring may be various. What is spring fever? Well, it's a combination of the accumulated fatigue of living so much indoors in the winter, and a winter diet dominant in foods that are low in vitamins, and the resurgence of the endocrines with some of them overdoing it, thyroid insufficiency and gonad insufficiency, and psychic states of the Oh! what's the use? order.

The same operating causes, with the addition of postural strain produce arthralgia. If it gets serious enough to require treatment not one but a combination of methods corresponding to the multiplicity of causes should be used. Thus we have reports of help in arthritis from Vitamin B concentrates, and from thyroid exhibition. The thyroid patient droops all over and the drooping leads to a postural strain and the postural strain causes arthralgia. Middle aged women patients in the menopause are often crippled by joint pains which yield very well to ovarian extract therapy. All these are established methods of treatment in the arthritis clinics.

Physical Therapy

I am impressed though in the treatment of these arthritic and semi-arthritic patients with the neglect of the methods of physical therapy—water, heat and cold massage, electricity. Why they are not more used by American physicians is a mystery. There is a feeling that they can only be given in a special establishment—a spa or resort. But most of the very effective ones can be given in the bathroom of any American home. I list some of the best:

(1) Depending on heat: Hot bath, general, two or more times a day. Hot and cold wet, compresses and applications. The hot bath. Hot and cold showers, or water poured from a height from a bucket or pitcher. Hot mud pack.

(2) Mechanical—Massage and rubbing—even amateur massage is valuable. Active and passive exercise directed at the sore muscles and joints.

(3) Counter Irritant—Sunlight ultra-violet lamp. Just plain electric bulb. Carbon arc lamp. Special electrical methods—such as diathermy and ionization and high frequency are available in most North American cities but how seldom used.

How much better these methods are than dosing with drugs, or the consumption of fancy and fatty diets.

Gold Treatment

Rheumatic exudations have been likened to smoldering sources of disease and heat properly used often effects their absorption. The mechanical effects of massage in stretching tissue accomplishes the same purpose.

The new gold treatment of arthritis is probably the most hopeful agent that has been introduced in the treatment of that troublesome condition. It does not work in all cases, but it is worth a try in properly selected ones.

In the early stages of rheumatoid arthritis in young people before deformities or limitation of movement or crippling has occurred it is its best field. It must be given under the care of a physician as it is given hypodermically into the muscle or into a vein. It often brings prompt relief from pain and limitation of motion.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

C. C. M.:—Please tell me if St. Vitus' dance has any effect on the heart.

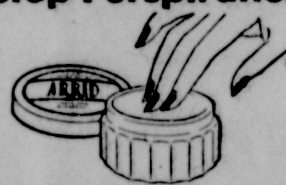

Answer: Yes, St. Vitus' dance, or chorea, is considered the same as a rheumatic affection, and in some cases causes the same kind of heart damage.

DON'T GAMBLE with Your Cutting Tools

Play Safe—Grind Correctly with NORTON WHEELS

Three types of Norton Wheels remove all the gamble in reconditioning carbide tools. For the offhand grinding of single point tools there's the Norton Metal Bonded Diamond Wheel—strong, heat-resistant and extremely long-lived. For tool and cutter grinding of multiblade carbide tools there's the fast cutting Norton Resinoid Bonded Diamond Wheel. And for those who prefer a vitrified wheel there's the Norton Crystolon.

For the safe sharpening of cutting tools of high speed steel and the cast alloys such as Stellite, the outstandingly popular wheel is the Norton "B-E" bond. Combined with the features of the several types of Aluminum abrasive, patented "B-E" bond gives wheels of exceptional strength and exceptional uniformity—wheels that hold their shape and have a crisp, cool grinding action—wheels that give the tools a keen, long-lasting edge free from burn.

Our field men, factory trained by Norton, are ready to give you engineering service. We will be pleased to handle your orders and inquiries. Items available from our stock.

Women Hold Many Jobs In Nation's Postal Organization

Of 42,680 postoffices in the United States, women are now postmasters in 17,500 and, in addition, women hold more than 6,000 jobs as classified clerks, more than 9,000 as temporary substitute clerks, 300 as regular rural carriers.

Approximately 900 women are hired as substitute rural carriers and at least 10,000 are employed as assistant postmasters in third class offices, according to the postmaster general's report received at the Salem office.

Of the 42,680 offices in this country, 1,443 are first class, 3,844 second class, 10,444 third class and 26,949 in the fourth class group.

Carriers all over the country who deliver rural mail run up the amazing total of 1,425,880 miles per day delivering mail on postal service.

An interesting sidelight on postal service is the amount of money and valuables that collect in a year's time in the so-called "dead letter" branch of the service. All this accumulation is carefully checked to make any delivery or return that may be possible before disposal.

However, if the department can't locate an owner, the money is kept and the valuables are disposed of and the proceeds go back into improvement of the postal service.

Last year, 13,437,258 dead letters were received and of this number 2,968,510 were returned to the senders. Money was found in these letters amounting to $195,733.

In 531,484 unclaimed parcels and articles found loose in the mails last year, 94,221 were either returned to the sender or delivered after careful research work to establish an owner. Sales of the balance of the articles those which couldn't be placed—amounted to $110,292.

Hog Embargo Modified

CLEVELAND, May 11.—President A. Z. Baker of the Cleveland Union stockyards said today the embargo against hog receipts had been modified by the allotment to commission houses of limited quotas which will be filled by shippers receiving permits from the merchants.

The Cleveland egg market also remained flooded, Dave Fernau, buyer for the Farm Bureau Marketing co-operative, reported. He said more eggs were being offered than the market could absorb.

OUR READERS

BAND MOTHERS REPLY

Editor, The News:

This is in reply to "A Mother's" note concerning the Salem High School band.

We think if you are concerned with the way our band marches you would come and see our director. The band members also think you could sign your name to articles such as that, then we could consult you as to how the band should march.

If you had read the articles in the paper criticizing the way the band has marched in the past you would find that they say we are too slow and don't have a snappy rhythm. If you think you could do a better job than our present director in directing the Salem High school band we suggest you apply for the job.

In closing our reply we wish to tell you that if we spoil your parades and you don't like what we do then you can find a "good" band elsewhere to take our place in the future Memorial Day parades.

With a goal of $800 set locally, the Veterans of Foreign Wars will begin their first welfare fund campaign next week, to provide Salem's share of the $200,000 goal set for the state organization.

The welfare fund, the first contribution asked by the Veterans' organization since its origin, is to be used for the rehabilitation of World war II veterans who are being released from the services every day. A portion of the national figure to be raised will go towards enlargement of the Eaton Rapids Veterans' home in Eaton Rapids, Mich., which is overcrowded and will have to meet increasing loads from now on, according to national V. F. W. officials.

J. A. Nicklason, chairman of the local drive, plans to appoint a committee this week which will begin solicitations next week to raise the money for the local post's share.

The Eaton Rapids home, for which some of the money will be used, has an interesting history. In 1920, just after the last war, two major league baseball teams battled to a tie game in the World Series and then decided to pass on the profits of the playoff game to the four leading war veteran's organizations in the country.

With the money the Veterans of Foreign Wars received they purchased the land and the building that eventually has been developed into the Eaton home.

Joseph Nagel of Cleveland, who is heading the state-wide drive for the organization, said this was the first time in 45 years that the Veterans of Foreign Wars had appealed to the public for financial assistance.

ers hitting some part of Hitler's domain.

However, American and British medium, light and fighter-bombers gave the people of occupied territory no respite from the aerial onslaught. The planes flying from their British bases spent the day methodically blasting at rail centers and airfields in France and Belgium as the massive aerial softening-up for the coming invasion progressed.

Allied headquarters at Naples said 33 planes were lost in yesterday's day and night assaults by Italy-based planes. Berlin radio claimed 51 Allied planes were destroyed, 41 of them heavy bombers, in the "area of the eastern Alps including Wiener-Neustadt."

Congressmen Renominated

Laurels for the best run went to Rep. George H. Bender of Cleveland, who captured the Republican renomination for congressman-at-large by a margin of 176,031 votes in a three-candidate field.

The Democratic contest for congressman-at-large still was in doubt today. William Glass of Campbell was leading Jack P. Russell of Cleveland by 11 votes, with 30 polling places in Erie county yet to report.

All Ohio's district congressmen—19 Republicans and three Democrats—won renomination.

William C. Puckett, Dayton attorney, was nominated for U. S. senator by the Democrats and will face Robert A. Taft of Cincinnati, the Republican incumbent, in the November election.

Contests for the Ohio legislature were highlighted by the defeat of Rep. Robert A. Wilkinson, Van Wert Republican, who headed the Ohio MacArthur-For-President club for war, a Navy part that will figure in the operations of the invasion of Hitler-held Europe.

He stressed the fact that many women will doubtless be referred to Mullins by U. S. E. S. who have no experience and to meet the situation a tested training program will be instituted.

Low Absentee Rate

Johnston said women will be selected from applicants who show aptitude for skilled and semi-skilled positions. To date, the area has a record of the lowest absentee rate in the state and every effort will be made to maintain this standard.

A general recruiting campaign to attract higher type women has been planned. It is felt by Mullins that a reluctance of women to take factory war jobs can be allayed when the critical need for war goods is explained to applicants. In keeping with government regulations all applications must be made through the U. S. E. S. offices for referral to the company where their services may best be utilized.

The War Today

By DeWitt MacKenzie

head. Probably it was in anticipation of such drives that the Germans here pulled back and straightened their line in the Palena sector, and so made it less vulnerable. They're getting set for the storm.

BERLIN feverishly trying to check on the invasion machine reports the southeastern coast of England swarms with troops ready to embark, and that a huge invasion fleet is assembled in channel ports. Of course, the Allies don't take the trouble to deny that. You can keep D-day a dark secret, known by perhaps six or eight people, but you can't hide thousands of ships and hundreds of thousands of soldiers.

It needs no imagination, either, to believe that the greatest armada of warships ever assembled is ready for the titanic task of conveying its precious army of invasion to the hostile shores. With all the bombing that's going on it's natural that we should get air-minded, but we shouldn't overlook that the American and British navies will play a mighty part in the adventure.

Warships will lead the way into the mine-filled waters, and they will surround the transports and barges. Their great guns will be tearing at the Nazi coastal defenses in the most terrific bombardment ever known.

In appreciation of the vast responsibility resting on the American and British navies, the famous General Montgomery has made a gesture typical of him. He has visited the home fleet and expressed his thanks.

FORRESTAL

nence, in politics and in many other ways Forrestal stands in sharp contrast to the man he succeeds.

Knox was a Republican; Forrestal is a Democrat. Knox started work as a newspaper reporter, was active in journalism and public affairs throughout his life. Forrestal, also a reporter at first, went into business, developed a business man's desire for privacy and emerged as a leading figure in his field only when he became president of Dillon, Read & Co., Wall Street investment firm, in 1938.

Knox was a great talker, an outspoken man who coupled high administrative qualities with constant affability. The 52-year-old Forrestal, a hard-driving worker, is an economist of words. He deals almost exclusively in hard facts and insists that those who work with him, whether admirals or civilian associates, deliver the facts concisely and accurately when decisions are to be made.

Further support for its recently announced contention that before post-war television is given full run, it should be improved considerably and color added, has been found by CBS in answers to a questionnaire sent to 142 affiliated stations.

A total of 91 have responded, the network said, voting 90 to 1 in favor of the "radical improvement in television standards which CBS recently proposed."

TERMINAL NURSERY
BENEFITS MOTHERS
CINCINNATI—USO hostesses at Cincinnati's Union Terminal have taken on another job in addition to helping servicemen.
It really is an indirect service to servicemen, but it is a little unusual in the middle of a busy train terminal.

The new job is the supervision of a small nursery at the terminal for mothers traveling to see or from seeing soldier husbands with small babies.
The nursery, fully equipped for meeting the needs of changing, bathing and feeding babies and doing their laundries has proved an oasis to young traveling mothers, according to supervisors Mrs. John A. Rothermeyer and Mrs. John Hollers.

ATTENDANCE FIRST EVENING EVIDENCE OF FANS' DESIRES

Total of 58,078 Fans At Night Baseball's First 1944 Turnouts

BY JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
Night baseball's first 1944 turnouts totaling 58,078 for three games could be taken today as proof that the national pastime is strictly an after-dark and Sunday business in wartime.

Pittsburgh's crowd of 23,011 last night more than doubled the Bucs' largest previous through this season, and Washington attracted 19,756 customers with 15,311 present at Cincinnati.

The five day games drew only 19,414 or a per game average of 3,883 as compared with 19,359 under the arcs.

Actual night results were overshadowed by the encouraging crowds but all the home teams won to make it perfect for the moguls.

Bucky Walters made sure his 20th start for Cincinnati would be on the right side of the book by driving in Eddie Miller to break a tie in the ninth and beat the New York Giants, 3 to 2. In five starts Walters has pitched five complete games, won four including two shutouts, yielded six runs and 27 hits in 49 innings.

Jim Russell's double scoring Johnny Barrett and Frank Zak was the big blow in Pittsburgh's three-run spurt in the eighth for a 4-2 nod over Boston.

Johnny Niggeling's knuckler was too tough for St. Louis as Washington triumphed 5-1. The Nats lost Catcher Rick Perrell who split his thumb in the second.

In the afternoon, the Yankees' six-game winning streak was snapped by Detroit, 4-2 as Paul (Dizzy) Trout scattered seven safeties and weighed in with three singles in the Tigers' total of 13 off Ernie Bonham.

Luke Hamlin broke into the win column with a neat five-hit shutout job against Chicago as the Athletics hammered out 16 blows for a 9-0 verdict.

Cleveland's Mel Harder hit the 200 win mark of his major league career, although Specs Kileman had to relieve him in the eighth of a 5-4 triumph over the Boston Red Sox.

Morton Cooper found his stuff again and pitched the Cardinals to a 4-2 edge over Brooklyn's Whit Wyatt and the Phils helped Chicago drop their 13th straight as Al Gerheiser southpawed a seven-hitter to win 7 to 1.

NEW YORK, May 11—Ken Sells, boss of the All-American Girls Professional ball league, has appointed a "personality counsel" for the league who will give the girls a course covering "the important points in personal grooming, appearance and social behavior" during the training season. . . . And don't think that plenty of masculine big leaguers couldn't use a little similar tutoring. Carmine Fatta, the Newburgh, N. Y., lightweight, is going into the political ring to campaign for Augustus W. Bennett. And he promises it won't be a "sneer" campaign although he thinks he could do that fiscally. To Bennett's opponent, Rep. Hamilton Fish, the old Harvard athlete.

Gilberto Torres, Senators' third baseman: A sample of the confusion resulting from Clark Griffith's hiring Latin-Americans. Gilberto was born in Cuba but Scout Jose Cambria insists that his brother, Epitacio Torres, is a Mexican-Indian. . . . The roster lists Gilberto as a pitcher and he was, winning 19 games and losing 19 games and losing 11 for Chattanooga-Montgomery last season. . . . A hurt arm chased him into the outfield and he wound up with a .321 batting average. . . . This spring when Hills Layne and Luis Suarez were battling for Washington's third base job, G. Torres stepped in and took it from both. With his current batting mark well over .300, Gilberto isn't likely to be ousted.

MEL HARDER WINS 200TH IN BIG TIME

BOSTON, May 11.—Mel Harder, 34-year-old dean of the Cleveland Indians' pitching staff, today was listed among the select group of baseball greats who have won 200 major league games.

The bespectacled right hander is the only active hurler in the American League with such a record. His only contemporaries are Freddy Fitzsimmons, manager of the Philadelphia Phillies, and Paul Derringer of the Chicago Cubs.

Harder's 5 to 4 triumph over the Boston Red Sox yesterday was marred somewhat by the fact that he wasn't on the mound at the finish. The Sox secured only four hits until the eighth, but Ed Kileman replaced him after four singles had produced two runs. Boston added to more in the same inning when the Tribe's inner defense fell apart.

The win was Harder's third in as many starts and lifted the Indians to the .500 mark for the first time this season.

The run that proved to be the decisive one was Pat Seery's seventh inning homer. The blast was the Big Irishman's third round tripper of the season.

Allie Reynolds hurled for the Red Sox in the second game of the series daily. Following the contest he and Rookie Catcher Russ Lyon will entrain for Cleveland where they will take their pre-induction physical examinations Saturday.

Ohio 1944 Basketball Season Most Successful Ever Held

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, May 11.—The Ohio High School Athletic association today publicly totaled up the customers and the gate receipts for the 1944 state basketball tournament series and announced that from a standpoint of interest, attendance and receipts, the meet "was the most successful ever held in Ohio."

The total attendance at the county, sectional, district, regional and final state tournaments was 493,027, which was 39 per cent greater than in 1943. And it exceeded the total attendance at the last series of tournaments held before the start of World War II in 1941 by 10,746.

Gate receipts reached the bulging total of $219,400.45, 43 per cent more than in 1943 and $51,790.99 more than in 1941.

Of those receipts, $24,861.66 became the state association's share while the remainder went back to the schools.

H. R. Townsend, commissioner of the Ohio High School Athletic association, said Montgomery county was the leader in both attendance and receipts at the county tournaments.

Springfield led in attendance and gate receipts for the sectional-district tournaments. The biggest regional crowd saw the A and B tournaments at Youngstown when 5,197 persons paid $5,060.20 to watch the games.

The Class A final state tournament drew 3,533 customers in the afternoon and 3,535 at night for the championship tilt between Middletown and Toledo Woodward.

The finalists in the Class B tournament played before 2,436 in the afternoon and 1,195 at night.

A Model is Murdered ~ BABS LEE

CHAPTER EIGHT

"She was wearing a diamond ring last night," observed Ellen. "Was she robbed?"

"No," said Argus. "I had a visit from my old friend, Inspector Grange, this morning. Flagg looked interested. He sat forward in his chair. He told me that the doors and windows were all locked. Argus continued, 'and that Syria was still wearing that ring. He also told me that you, Mr. Flagg, were responsible for phoning the superintendent who found the...'

"That's right," Flagg cut in. "Syria had an appointment this morning at 8:30. When she didn't appear at 8:45, I had my secretary phone. I guess the inspector told you the rest."

"Yes, he did."

"Oh, Argus!" Ellen said, "you must find Syria's murderer!"

"Ellen's led me to believe you may be willing to help solve this case. I certainly hope so."

Argus gazed around the office as they talked. There were more "blow-up" pictures of Flagg's famous models arrayed in a line on the wall. Some of them were ecstatically photographed. One, directly opposite Flagg's desk, Argus couldn't miss: "To Roger, the Aladdin who made my dreams come true—Love and kisses." The signature was that of a world-famous movie star.

Then Argus recognized the photograph of a sultry looking brunette her eyes half-closed, her head thrown back, her full lips parted. It was a picture of Syria Verne. Ellen was in the gallery too, laughing down at him from a corner of the room. Argus was reminded of the once famous Earl Carroll slogan: "Through these portals pass the most beautiful girls in the world."

"The police were here this morning," Flagg said. "They said they had placed her death around midnight."

"Have they any idea at all who did it?" Ellen asked.

"I don't think so," replied Argus. "It's a very curious case," said Flagg meditatively, "as curious as it is tragic." He picked up a photograph from his desk and stared at it. "I was very fond of Syria. She was one of the best workers in the business—ambitious and on her toes every minute. She had just signed a film contract, you know. I remember the first day she came to me for a job. She was thin and pale, but there was something arresting about her."

"Is that a picture of her?" Argus asked.

"Yes," said Flagg.

"May I see it?" Flagg handed it to him. It was the same as the enlarged portrait on the wall. Argus turned it over. On the back was the name "Syria Verne" and her measurements. Argus read them with interest: "Bust 36, waist 25, hips 34, height five feet six inches, weight 125." He nodded his approval and handed it back to Flagg.

"Did you know anything about Syria's background?" Argus asked.

"I mean who she was—what she'd done?"

Both Ellen and Flagg looked surprised.

"Why, no," said Flagg. "I thought she was just another youngster from the Middle West."

Argus then told them about the girl whose name had once been Lucy Callahan, night club singer at Dancer Martinelli's.

Flagg's black eyes widened. "I'd never heard that," he said.

"Dancer—" Ellen emphasized—"where did he ever get that name?"

"I think his pals christened him that because he has a curious way of walking on the balls of his feet, as though he were about to go into a waltz," Argus explained. "I heard once that he was shot in the foot and that it's hard for him to walk naturally."

Ellen said: "There must be some tie-up with the man I saw her talking to—the fellow-faced one I told you about—who sounded as if he were threatening her. She paused. 'I remember something else, too. He kept tossing a coin, the way gangsters do in the movies.'"

"It's quite likely that it was one of Martinelli's men," Argus agreed. He drew out a package of cigarettes and offered one to Ellen and to Flagg. The model-agent refused.

"I don't smoke, thanks. I had a touch of gas during the last war."

"Army?" Argus queried.

"Yes. I'd just graduated from Boston Tech when I joined up," Flagg said.

"Was Syria in your office on Monday morning to pick up a check from one of the studios. She was booked to work for Pierre Sturgis in the afternoon from two to four."

"I worked with her," Ellen said. "She seemed sort of nervous. She moved in a couple of shots and Pierre had to shoot them over."

"I'd heard that she hadn't been too steady in her pictures lately," Flagg said. "In fact, I asked her what was troubling her yesterday morning. I thought maybe she was staying up too many nights and needed a rest. You can't work all day and decorate the hot spots."

"What about this Sturgis fellow?" Argus asked. "Was he in love with her?"

"I believe so," replied Flagg. "Those things get around. She used to go out with him a great deal and there were rumors to the effect that he was jealous of her. He's lame, you know."

"How did Syria feel about Pierre?" Argus asked.

"One of the models told me that Syria broke off with Pierre a month ago," Ellen volunteered. She looked at Flagg. "You probably heard that, Roger."

"I wouldn't know," Flagg shrugged. "I never mix into my models' private lives."

"Meaning you don't mix business with pleasure," Argus said, smiling. "She was with Sturgis last night at the Penguin Club. Ellen and I ran into them."

"Yes," nodded Flagg. "She mentioned that she was going out with him yesterday morning. She seemed upset."

"Upset? In what way?" Argus queried.

"Oh, just uncertain as to whether she should go out with him or not," Flagg replied vaguely.

"Do the police know about Syria's past?" Ellen asked.

"Yes, they do," Argus replied. "It seems that Syria lived in an expensive apartment. How much money would you say she earned a week, Mr. Flagg?"

"I'd say she averaged $150 a week, sometimes more, sometimes less. We keep a record of how much work each model does and they pay us a ten per cent commission. You can go over the files if you'd care to, Mr. Steele."

"How much does Ellen make?" Argus asked. "I'll bet she's been holding out on me."

"Don't tell him, Roger. He'd just marry me for my money."

"I won't, Ellen. You're the best model I've got now, and I need you in my business."

"Are you married, Mr. Flagg?" Argus asked.

"Bachelor," Flagg smiled. "Argus raised his eyebrows. 'How did you manage to escape in a set-up like this?'"

"Perhaps it's a little like the boy who loved candy and then someone gave him a whole candy store to himself. He didn't know where to begin," Flagg stood up. "You'll have to excuse me now," he said. "I have a new applicant to interview. Ellen, why don't you show Mr. Steele around the office? He may want to look through Syria's file. Then come back here. I won't some money playing poker last night, so I'd like to take you two to lunch. How about it?"
